Over half the report is devoted to militia and it gives a detailed account of workings of the act to promote the efficiency of the militia passed at the last session of congress. Senator Hansbrough introduced in the senate to day a bill which by implication repeals the timber and stone act under which land is now acquired at two-fifty an acre regardless of its real value. The measure is intended to cure defects in existing laws, put a quietus upon speculation in public timber lands and end to frauds which recently have grown into a national scandal.

Speaker Cannon assured to day by one of the most prominent leaders of opposition to Cuban reciprocity in the last congress that there will be little or no opposition among Republicans to a bill carrying into effect the Cuban reciprocity treaty.

Workmen Razing an Old Buildind Discover Fragments of a Hoard of Money.

Medora, Nov. 11.—Workmen engaged in razing the building formerly owned by Joseph Hill at Summerville, to day discovered several pieces of coin which are believed to be fragments of a hoard of money the eccentric old man was believed to have hidden before his death.

Within the last month Hill expired at an advanced age over grief for his son, Benjamin Hill, whom he believed to have been murdered. For many years the elder Mr. Hill was a prosperous merchant. He was eccentric and miserly and while it was known that he possessed much money, the secret of its whereabouts died with him.

In the structure which is ow being removed it is believed that his wealth was stored. The coins bore dates of long ago. A close search is being made for the supposed hidden treasure.

FEDERATION OF LABOR

Boston, Nov. 11.—The plan for an international labor federation was enthusiastically received by the American Federation of Labor to day. O'Grady's plan was supported by James Simpson, of Toronto, members of the International Typographical union.

Sutton, former member of the state military board and exregent of the state university, who was charged with being implicated in a $50,000 fraud practiced on the state in connection with supplies for state troops during the Cuban war. Sutton has come here from New York to testify in the Holbrook case. Until a few weeks ago he was a fugitive in Mexico, but returned and pleaded guilty to the charge of which he had once been acquitted. His punishment was a fine and it was said at that time he had agreed to testify at the trial of Holbrook, who had been credited with securing Sutton's acquittal.

The wife believed her husband had turned against her. Mrs. Hollis was committed to jail until a jury passes upon her sanity.

EXCITEMENT AT BOGOTA

PRESIDENT OF COLOMBIA IS DENOUNCED

Crowds Parade the Streets Shouting "Down With Marroquin"—An Attack Expected—Other Isthmian News.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The state department received a cablegram from Minister Beaupre at Bogota, dated Nov. 9, in which the minister states large crowds were parading streets on the eighth instant, crying "down with Marroquin." There was a mass meeting denouncing the president and calling for a change of government. Hundreds gathered at the palace and a prominent national general called for the resignation of the president. The gathering was dispersed by troops, several people being wounded. The city is under martial law, well guarded by soldiers. The legation of the United States is under the protection of the government, but there are no indications of hostile demonstration. The residence of Lorenzo Marroquin(believed here to be a senator and son of the president) has been attacked with stones.

BAPTIST CONGRESS

Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—The committee appointed to inquire into the matter to day reported to the Baptist congress in favor of a national meeting of Baptists at Washington next year. At to night's session the question "Does trade unionism imperil liberty?" was discussed. Prof. Heath Bawden, of Poughkepsie, N. Y., said that "the socialization of industry is the only way to secure complete economic freedom for the individual workman."

"Trades unionism does imperil liberty," said Rev. Edward Holyoke, o Providence, "but so does the automobile. The peril from either lies not in the thing, but depends on the way it is run. The cure for boycotting is not in abolition of the union, but the evolution of laborer. Escape from this social peril and from every other lies by way of the slow, spiral ascent of man to manhood."

BOND ISSUE.

New York, Nov. 11.—Application was made to day to list $12,242,000 St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern lines, gulf division first mortgage 4 per cent 30-year bonds. This is a portion of Gould's plan for a tidewater line from St. Louis to New Orleans. Bonds to be listed represent a portion of the authorized $50,000,000, which it is estimated improvementst will cost. The money is to be used for the purchase of various railways along the proposed route; for a double track road between East St. Louis and Thebes; additional terminal and ferry properties at St. Louis, East St. Louis and Thebes. As only $12,242,186 of these bonds have been actually issued and sold, $20,000,000 has been underwritten.

HAVE SPIRITED DEBATE.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 11.—Dr. Frank I. Herriott, professor of economics of Drake university, attacked the Iowa poor farm system in a paper before the state conference of charities and corrections to day. He said it would be cheaper for the state to board poor farm inmates at the best hotels in Des Moines than keep them the way they are now keeping. The paper was backed by statistics and provoked considerable discussion.

A store was raised at the afternoon meeting by a statement by Rev. J. H. Remington, rector of the Episcopal church at Fort Dodge, that it was impertenent to ask after a man's soul when he was hungry. A spirited debate followed on the question of material vs. spiritual Christianity.

Owings, prominent business men of the city, ordering the city council to call a special election for mayor to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of F. M. Menke by Judge Henley in the Mattoon city court.

The night Mr. Menke was removed the council elected James A. Brown, alderman from the Second ward, mayor pro tem. Judge Craig, in granting the mandamus, state that Brown is a usurper and that Mattoon has been without a mayor.

The order of the court is that the city council call an election forthwith, which it has refused to do.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 11.—By the overruling of demurrer to indictment by Judge Howe, of the Polk county district court, Armour & Co. will be compelled to answer the charge of violating the oleomargerine law. It is the purpose of the state of Iowa, through its dairy commissioner, to take the matter to the supreme court to obtain a ruling as to whether it is a violation of the law to have the slightest tinge of yellow in oleomargerine. Judge Howe had passed on the matter favorably to contention of the state, but the matter was referred back to the grand jury on a technicalty, Armour's demurrer to a second indictment. Iowa farmers are back of the agitation to obtain a supreme court ruling.

DEBATE FISCAL PROGRAM.

London, Nov. 11.—The chamber of commerce to night debated Chamberlain's fiscal program. Professor Ashley, dean of the faculty of commerce of the university of Birmingham, declared that if Chamberlain's policy was adopted Canada is certain to either become independent or to be annexed to the United States. American immigration to the northwest territory, he declared, was accelerating this tendency and the drift of Australia towards separation from the mother country was equally clear. The debate brought out a strongly divergence of views held by members of the chamber. No resolution was adopted.

QUIT WORK THIS MORNING

A GENERAL STRIKE OF STREET RAILWAY MEN

People of Chicago May be Compelled to Walk—All Surface Lines on South Side Will be Affected—Other Troubles.

Chicago, Nov.11.—A general strike of 3,000 employes of the Chicago City railway decided upon to night at a mass meeting of the men. They will quit work at 4 o'clock to morrow morning. This decision was reached after a controversy that has lasted over two weeks between representatives of the union and management of the railway. Numerous conferences have been held in eorts to adjust the diicuity by arbitration, but without satisfactory results, and the decision to night to strike to morrow morning was unanimously endorsed by the men.

The demands of the union were for a wage increase of 25 per cent; recognition of the union and several other minor concessions. The company requested postponement of hostilities until Saturday, when a final answer would be given, but the men refused to delay action any longer and decided to quit work to enforce their demands. The company, it is said, has several hundred men in readiness to take the place of strikers and will endeavor to run cars with non-union men. The Chicago City railway controls all surface lines running on the south side of the city, making a total of over 220 miles of track.

WILL CUT WAGES.

Boston, Nov. 11.—Reports from centers of the cotton mill industry throughout New England indicate that to day's announcement at Fall River that a 10 per cent reduction in wages had bee decided upon by cotton manufacturers there, to go into effect Nov. 23,3 had caused general uneasiness, due to belief an equal reduction at other places is inevitable. Representatives of labor unions do not appear to anticipate concerted action on the part of unions in opposition to the new schedule. Union men have kept themselves well informed as to the cotton market and to day's announcement at Fall River occasioned little surprise. While not admitting the necessity for so sweeping a reduction it is doubtful if any considerable number would join in a fight with mill agents at this time. The new schedule is really a return to conditions existing two years ago, when an advance was made by manufacturers. It was this advance in Fall River that led to a great strike in Lowell last spring. The present scale went into effect March 13, 1902. The price for weaving regular goods to day is 21.78 cents per cut, and 10 per cent reduction would make the new price 19.6 cents. The old price previous to the date given was 19.8 and this latter figure will prevail after Nov. 23.

Boston, Nov. 11.—James Tansey, president of the Textile Workers of America, who is here from Fall River attending the American Federation of Labor, was greatly surprised to day at notices of a shut down at Fall River. In his opinion other mills in Massachusetts and southern New England would be likely to follow the lead of the Fall River, in which case 20,000 to 1000,000 operatives would be affected.

Cincinnati, Nov. 11.—About 800 butchers struck to day for an increase of 10 per cent and double pay for Sundays and holidays. All local packing firms that refuse to recognize the union are affected.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 11.—Operations are being resumed at all American Amalgamated Copper company properties in the state. MILITARY COURT

Sentenced Officer to Prison and Dismissed From Army for Publishing a Novel.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—The military court at Metz to day concluded the trial of Lieutenant Bilsen, author of "A Little Garrison" and sentenced him to six months in prison and to dismissal from the army. The novel was ordered to be destroyed. The decision of the court was based on the fact that in his noved Bilsen insulted his superior officers and drew such a picture of events happening in Forbach, Alas-Lorraine, that personages living in that place were compromised. The court says the lieutenant disobeyed an order of Emperor William forbidding any officer to publish a pamphlet without permission of his military superiors. In the defendant's favor it was urged that "A Little Garrison" contained much truth concerning the narrow condition existing in small garrisons and frequent injustice of superior officers to their inferiors and that it reflects on duelling.

BREAKS HIS LEG

Muscatine, Iowa, Nov. 11.—Howard Parsons, age 22, suffered from a broken leg to day in a foot ball game between teams of the Muscatine high school and Company C, Iowa national guard. Parsons was playing full back for the military company. In a series of line smashes he made a semi-hurdle and fumbled the ball. Seven or eight men fell on him and his thigh bone was snapped with a noise that was heard in the grand stand. The military team disbanded immediately and many of the players left their suits on the gridiron, declaring that to be their last game. The high school team also disbanded to night. The Thanksgiving game and all contests planned for next week have been called off.

ALLOWED TO LEAVE PORT.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The state department has been informed that the two British steampships which were detained at the port of Buena Ventura by the Colombian government with the intention of using them to transport troops to the isthmus have been released and have left that port. The British government knew nothing of the detention of those British vessels until notified by the state department through the embassy here. It was the intention of the navy department to have the Colombian authorities informed that no troops could be taken on the isthmus from these vessels, but their release and eparture from Buena Ventura without troops made this course unnecessary.

The state department has decided to request the authorities at Panama to receive General Reyes, who is going to the isthmus on a peace mission from Bogota. It is estimated he cannot reach his destination within two weeks.

NEW COUNTERFEIT.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The secret service to day announced the discovery of a new counterfeit $20 national bank note on the Fourth National bank of Boston, Mass. The bceck letter is A; series 1882; Tillman register; Morgan treasurer. A poor photograph is printed on two pieces of thin paper with a few silk threads distributed between them. Yellow water color has been smeared over the seal, almost obliterating the design. The panel containing the charter number on the back of the note is black and brown instead of green.

NO INJUNCTION

Fraternal Army Fails to Secure Restraining Order From the Court.

Judge Shirley Tuesday denied the petition for the appointment of a receiver for the Fraternal Army and also refused to issue a temporary injunction against the Loyal Americans thus deciding for the present the fight of a number of members of the Fraternal Army against the consolidation with the Loyal Americans, so far as the lower court is concerned. The case will no doubt be appealed to the appellate court.

Judge Shirley in denying the prayer of the petitioner says:

"The Fraternal Army of America as an organization, is, and was at the time of its consolidation with the Loyal Americans declining and practically insolvent, and the appointment of a receiver now would be in effect no benefit to the members, but would be of serious injury to the beneficiaries for whom the funds which have been paid to the Loyal Americans were assessed and collected by the Fraternal Army. This fund will be paid to them by the Fraternal Army of Loyal Americans, whereas if a receiver was appointed, much of it would be exhausted in expenses.

"It appears that a great majority of the lodge members of the Fraternal Army have affiliated with the new organization, and this in effect is a lapse of such membership from the Fraternal Army, leaving but a small proportion in members of the organization. The contract is unilateral, and they cannot be retained in the membership of the Fraternal Army, and are not now members. If it is to their best interests to act as it appears to them, they have a right to do so.

"The fund paid over to the new organization is not the property of the complainants and they have no such interest therein as warrants the relief prayed. This is a trust fund assessed for the payment of death claims, and no one has any interest in it except the beneficiaries for whom is was collected and they are not complaining.

"Other reasons might be given. The appointment of a receiver is an act resting in the discretion of the court, and each case pending upon its own facts and circumstances, and while the members of the Fraternal Army of America were not in the alleged trasfer, yet from the present condition of affairs the court does not believe it a wise course to appoint a receiver and grant an injunction. It would accomplish no good results, and would benefit no member of the Fraternal Army."

HOME TREATMENT.

We have a medicine for such troubles as are caused by stomach disorders, resulting in dyspepsia, sickheadache and general weakness, that will put the organs of digestion in first-class working condition. Eat wholesome food, have it properly digested and you will have taken away the cause of more than half the ills of life. This medicine is called Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. Sold by all druggists for 25c per box. Only one for a dose. They do not digest the food you eat, but do the very best possible thing, put the stomach in condition so that the food you eat is turned into strong rich blood, driving out and preventing disease. Women write us that they use nothing else for the complexion. They keep the skin clear, preventing pimples and liver spots from appearing on the face, and purify the blood. Lee P. Allcott, druggist.

SPEED WAR.

A speed war between the rivil lines from Chicago to St. Louis seems certain during the fair. The Wabash road has just purchased twelve big engines, to be used in passenger service between Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis. The Chicago & Eastern Illinois company is rushing work on its double track line to St. Louis, and has contracted for a full equipment of engines and cars for the Chicago-St. Louis line. The Illinois Central and the Chicago & Alton have also ordered new equipment. George J. Charlton, general passenger agent of the Alton, disputes the claim of the Wabash that its new passenger engines are the heaviest and fastest running into Chicago. "The Baldwin works are finishing and will deliver to the Alton company in a very short time six additional passenger engines similar to the two engines of the '600' class, recently delivered and now in use," said Mr. Charlton yesterday. "These engines are the largest and fastest passenger engines run on any railway in the world. The Baldwin engines built for the Alton company are guaranteed to make eight miles and hour, with fifteen cars. The Brooks engines built for the Wabash company are guaranteed to make sixty miles per hour with ten cars."

WOMEN'S COLUMN.

Don't wear high, unyielding collars. They were not intended for pretty necks.

It is said that every mother should spend a few minutes each day playing with her baby's toes.

Occasionally give your conscience a dash of freedom, but see that it is not roaming when needed at home.

Don't feed the baby with adult food. Giving the child this sort of nourishment too early produces soft bones.

Women would do well to remember that smartness is one of the greatest aids to those who do not possess actual beauty.

Don't think it enough to be a beauty; in order to approach perfection a woman shoud try to improve herself morally and intellectually, as well as physically.

The difference in size between the waist and bust—the measurement being taken just under the arms—in the well formed woman should be from eight to ten inches.

Don't let the children play with matches, nor leave matches laying around. Several women have been fatally burned by stepping on matches and thus catching their skirts on fire.

Where do you keep the medicine you have on hand? A good idea is to have a box with several shelves nailed upon the wall and in this keep all the medicine you can with a label on each bottle.

Of all the people who are jeered and made fun of it is the mother-in-laws. Now there are thousands of mother-in-laws who are just as good as they can be, but the fault lies with the son-in-law, or perhaps the little wife.

ALL TIRED OUT

Hundred More in Jacksonville in the Same Plight.

Tired all the time;
Weary and worn out night and day;
Back aches, side aches,
All on account of the kidneys.
Must help them at their work.

A Jacksonville citizen shows you how.

Mr. A. H. Comman, of 308 East State street, dealer in second-hand furniture and stoves, says: "Across my loins just over those organs was a heavy aching pain. I could not rest long, either sitting or lying, and in the morning I always felt more tired and depressed than when I went to bed. The pains became much more persistent and the kidney secretions grew highly colored and irregular; in fact my general health was run down. I tried different medicines, but remained the same, seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I got a box at Dr. H. Lee Tarbell's drug store and used them. They acted like a charm, giving a healthy and natural action to the kidneys and relieved my back of distressing aches and pains."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

How Carlo Learned to Take Care of the Home Chickens.

Carlo early manifested a love for watching and chasing chickens, a pastime not to be neglected with the small opportunities of the city. We soon, by kindness and firmness and much talking, broke him of disturbing our own chickens. We often took a little chick in our hands and said to him, "Pretty chicky, Carlo's chicky," and allowed him to lick it gently. Soon it was not only safe, but safer, to have him in the pen with the chicks than otherwise, as then no rat or mouse dared venture there. From the first Carlo has deemed these marauders worthy of death whenever and wherever seen and acts out his convictions. As the chicks grew their number was reduced to twelve, and these were transferred to the barn.

Every night for two years Carlo made a detour of the perches, giving each fowl a good lick—they were so acquainted it did not alarm them at all—and if one or more of the number were absent he would immediately scour the premises until it was found, then give a peculiar bark, indicating the discovery, nor would he give it up till the number was complete. Could he count? How did he know there should be just twelve, no more, no less?—Mary E. Holmes in Science.

A Cat's Family of Rats.

The lion and the lamb lying down side by side would not be a more remarkable spectacle than that presented at the residence of Miss Helen Glenhof, 5252 Hennepin avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

Here Tuddles, the pet tabby, is looking after the welfare and early training of three baby rats. Tuddles gave birth to four kittens a short time ago, three of which were drowned. She mourned their loss, and the next morning her master was surprised to find two small rats keeping company with the lone kitten, with Tuddles fondly watching over the three. The day following she was seen to deposit another young rat tenderly beside the other foundlings, and she now purs as contentedly over her strange brood as though they were all kittens.—Little Chronicle.

Scientific Sailing.

This is a fine game for a rainy evening. You need a clothes basket and a broomstick. Take the broomstick through the handles of your clothes basket and raise the ends of the broomstick on a couple of chair seats that face each other. See that the basket swings freely on the broomstick. Now on the front corner of the chairs place a coin, four in all. Then get some one to step inside the basket and sit astride the stick and, using a cane, try to knock off the four coins on the chairs and then step to the ground again. Now, this seems very easy to do, but just try to do it and you will see your mistake. It is not very difficult to get into the basket and to seat yourself on the broomstick, but after that is when your real trouble begins.

Romance and Reality.

"When father brings my roller skates,"
Said Master Aubrey Arthur Bates,
"I'll go on errands every day,
For doing them will seem like play.
I'll wheel the baby while I skate;
At school I never will be late.
Oh, people when they look at me
A very clever boy will see!

"When father brings my roller skates,
I'll strap them on," said Aubrey Bates,
"And show the boys just how to go.
They will not see me stumble so.
I'm sure it's no great trick to learn
To skate along and curve and turn.
It looks as easy as can be.
The girls will all be watching me!"

No more this lofty plan states
The soul of Aubrey Arthur Bates.
He's tried his brand new roller skates!

Butting the Wall.

Place a stool on the ground against the wall. Now stand from the wall, with your feet twice the width of the stool apart.

Stoop down and seize the stool by the top in both hands and place the top of your head against the wall, your back almost horizontal.

Now lift or try to lift it from the ground without touching floor, so that your fall may not be painful or disagreeable. Your failure is due to a curious effect of the displacement of your center of gravity.

Sixteen persons have united with the church since the recent session of the annual conference at Quincy. A YEAR OF ACTIVITY

$200,000 Has Been Spent in Jacksonville for Building During Twelve Months.

The building season for the year 1903 has practically closed and it is of interest to know that the season has been a fairly prosperous one locally.

The year has not been remarkable for the number of new homes and business houses that have been erected and in this particular may be somewhat behind previous years. The amount of repairing done, however, will exceed that of former years and the year as a building year will average well.

In the business section very few new buildings have been constructed, but the repairs and changes in store fronts has been noticeable, and the square has been greatly improved in this particular. The addition of concrete walks in front of many stores has been an improvement much needed and has added much to the clean and up-to-date appearance of the business portion of the city.

In the residence section some thirty new houses have been built or repaired that cost on an average about $3,000 each. At least thirty more dwellings have been erected that will average in cost probably $1,000.

School houses have been added to and improved to the extent of $26,000, and the improvement at the jail cost $14,000. There have been other changes and additions in and about the square that will reach $12,000.

Improvements at Illinois college and Academy hall amount to $2,000 or $3,000, exclusive of the extensive heating plant, which has been installed at that institution.

At the Blind institution a new barn has been built costing $5,000.

The general repairs over the city in porches, etc., will reach between $6,000 and $8,000, making a total expenditure along building lines of nearly $200,000.

This is exclusive of the new school building and heating plant at the Deaf and Dumb institution, and of the cold storage plant at the Central Insane hospital. All contractors in the city have had a busy season and work has been plentiful.

The improvements that have been made are all of a substantial character and the new buildings, many of them, are of handsome and artistic construction. Considering the high price of all classes of building material, the showing made is a good one and shows a healthy growth in this department of the city's life.

A MUCH READ AND MUCH TALKED ABOUT NEWSPAPER.

The Bulletin, of Bloomington, Ill., is foremost among examples of the newspaper awakening since the introduction of rural routes. The publishers have put over $40,000 into new equipments, and the Bulletin is of merit enough now to belong to a city of a couple of hundred thousand inhabitants. There are scarcely over a dozen cities in America that produce a paper of greater tone. The Sunday edition contains comic, fashion and magazine pages in colors, run off on their own four-deck Hoe color perfecting press.

The Bulletin has its own telegraph office and receives a volume of Associated Press reports and cable dispatches, equal to that supplied to the New York World and other large dailies.

To those who now and then wonder what has become of the Daily Leader and Sunday Eye, let it be said to the credit of the Bulletin's policy of expansion and hard work that those papers were licked up like salt. The Bulletin has come to be liked by everybody.

FIREWORKS WITHOUT FIRE.

A strange departure indeed, but none the less true for all that, they are introduced in the second act of Lawrence Russell's new play, "The Punkin Husker," during the political celebration and look to be the real thing. There is not a spark of fire in their make-up, however, and one could use them in a powder mill with as little trepidation as you would feel in handling them in the middle of the Atlantic ocean. S. MILLER KENT.

"Facing the Music," that delightfully clever farce by James Henry Darnley, will be presented in this city at the Grand on Saturday, Nov. 14, by Mr. S. Miller Kent and his carefully selected company. "Facing the Music" is one of the successes of the present theatrical season and is said to contain more genuine entertainment than any other farce before the public. It received its initial performance at the Garrick theatre, New York, and its success was pronounced. It is said that there is not a dull moment during the entire performance.

STEPPED AGAINST A HOT STOVE.

A child of Mrs. George T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by all druggists.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION LABEL JACKSONVILLE, ILL.

ORIGIN OF THE FLAG.

Mrs. Isabella Garrison, a Chicago enthusiast in the study of heraldry, armorial bearings and genealogical records, said recently:

"Not 5 per cent of the Americans know where the shield of the United States and the national flag came from. As a matter of fact, both are taken from the arms of the old Washington family in England from which George Washington was descended. I stood at the grave of George Washington's great-great-grandfather in Althorp, England, and saw on the stone the shield of the United States. The flag comes from the same shield, the group of stars with the stripes below."

Commenting on this the Inter-Ocean says that it is a not uncommon version of the origin of the American flag, but it is not accepted by historians or by Washington's biographers. It is certain that the flag came before the seal or shield or coat of arms, and certain facts are clearly established.

In the fall of 1775 the colonial congress in session at Philadelphia appointed Franklin, Lynch and Harrison a committee to recommend a design for a colonial flag. The committee went to Cambridge to consult General Washington, arriving at the general's headquarters Dec. 13.

At the second meeting on that day a gentleman introduced by Franklin submitted a design based on the flag of the English East India company, a field of alternate longitudinal red and white stripes, having the cross of St. George for a union. In the new design the red and white stripes were increased to thirteen, with the union flag of England for a union.

The design was adopted by the committee. On Jan. 2, 1776, Washington hoisted, in the presence of the committee and the officers of the army, the new colonial flag. It is a matter of record that the British in Boston saluted this flag, believing it to be a sign of loyalty to England.

The colonial flag of stripes and English union was changed to the United States flag by resolution of the continental congress on June 14, 1777. This resolution declared "that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, and that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

It would appear from this that the Washington coat of arms was not considered by the committee of congress in adopting the stripes, and that the stars were added with the idea of a new constellation of states in mind.

The device for the great seal or shield of the United States was not adopted until 1782, and was based on a design submitted to John Adams, then United States minister to England, by Sir John Prestwich an English antiquarian. Prestwich was well informed, undoubtedly, as to the escutcheon of the Washington family, but he put on the escutcheon of the great seal the thirteen stripes of the American flag which had been in use five years and associated with them the thirteen stars of the flag.

The shield on the Washington tombs in England may resemble the shield on the great seal of the United States, but it is misleading to say that the shields are the same.

FRANKLIN

A Few Remarks About Her Schools and Other Things.

The beautiful morning of Nov. 11 was improved by the writer for a trip to Franklin, one of the thriving and successful places of our grand county. Beautiful for situation in one of the fertile sections of old Morgan and containing sons of the best citizens of our commonwealth it is a place of no ordinary importance. One day did not afford sufficient time for a visit to all the people and parts of the town and as the Sunday school convention was the chief object of the trip not a great deal of attention could be paid to anything else, but one enterprise could not be passed by and that was the public school. Like all other sensible people the citizens of Franklin believe in good schools and to that end they have provided a good building and have employed capable instructors for the rising generation. The familiar countenance of the reporter's friend, Prof. O. E. Tandy, was seen on the walk and a suggestion of a desire to know something of the schools elicited a cordial invitation to visit them. The first person met on the premises, after some of the pupils was the worthy principal, Prof. R. F. Glosup, who gave the visitor a kindly greeting and a hearty invitation to make himself at home.

The schools of Franklin are in good hands and there is on all sides a good degree of interest manifested in their welfare. The board of education consists of Dr. J. B. Perkins and Messrs. M. B. Keplinger and A. H. Wright, and all are conscientiously interested in the great work of educating the rising generation. They are enterprising and willing to devote time and money for the great work. They are seconded to a good degree by the progressive citizens of the place and while more money could be used to advantage in some respects still the work is carried in a fairly liberal manner.

Nowhere in the state will you find a brighter or more attractive company of young people and children than the nearly 250 pupils of the Franklin public schools. Their merry laughter sounded throughout the premises and adjacent blocks as the time for school drew near and in every way they manifested a spirit of enthusiasm and advancement.

The little people, the primary pupils, the foundation stories of the great fabric of our modern society are in the kindly hands of Miss Bessie Hart. As is well known to many the young lady is a graduate of the Woman's college of this city, capable and enthusiastic in her work.

Next to her is Miss Butler in charge of the third and fourth grades and here the hill of fame and learning is ascended a little higher and the studies more advanced.

Up we go another step and we find a Jacksonville lady, Mrs. Davis, daugater of Capt. G. W. Fanning, who is earnestly engaged in imparting instruction to the young persons in her charge. Franklin is fortunate in having hard working teachers for her pupils.

The next step ushers the visitor into the presence of Prof. O. E. Tandy, who has charge of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, and his name is a guarantee that the work in that room is well done. His reputation as a competent teacher was long ago established and he has ever maintained it by faithful effort and progressive ideas.

At the head is the efficient principal, Prof. R. F. Glossup, an enthusiast in his work and a thoroughgoing, capable teacher. He has the high school pupils, the most advanced in the building and they with Professor Tandy's charges make an audience which is a delight to behold at any time. They show that they are in the hands of earnest leaders, desirous of doing them good and aiding them in every way to fit them for the arduous duties of life.

The pupils of the upper grades have the Franklin Literary society, which meets each Friday afternoon and carries out a program consisting of essays, declamations, readings, orations and debates, all will calculate to fit them for the practical part of life. In after years all who are faithful to their duty in these societies will experience the great benefits of their efforts.

The young people of the two higher rooms have also undoubtedly taken lessons in patience and resignation, as they sat with apparently entire submission and lamb-like quiet during the affliction of an hour's discourse by their grey haired caller, who wearied them with various platitudes and commonplaces which they had to endure, as they couldn't get away.

Even the short acquaintance served to create a sentiment of sincere friendships and esteem on the part of the visitor, who learned to look upon the winsome young ladies and gentlemen of the Franklin schools with most kindly regard and he will ever recall with more than ordinary pleasure his short visit with them.

What's In a Name?

The late "Biff" Hall, who was for a time previous to his death a police magistrate in Chicago, had a man before him on one occasion when a song now not altogether forgotten was decidedly popular.

"What is your name?" demanded the magistrate.

"George Banks."

"What's your business?"

"I'm a railroad brakeman."

"What road?"

"The Wabash."

"Here's where I get even," remarked the genial "Biff." "I will fine Banks of the Wabash $5."

THE NEW FACTORY

Substantial Progress is Being Made at the Whitehall Sewer Pipe Works.

Whitehall, Nov. 11.—The brick work on the walls of the new sewer pipe factory will be completed by Dec. 5, but the work of erecting the kilns will require all winter. Decker Bros. will finish the roof of the stoneware department by the 15th. Mr. Morrow is spending about two-thirds of his time looking after the building operations, and Architect Coleman spends two days of each week superintending the construction.

Taplin, Rice & Co., of Akron, Ohio, advise that they will soon begin the shipment of the sewer pipe machinery. The Alphonse Custodas Chimney Construction company, of Drusseldorf, Germany, through their Chicago office, advise tha hey will commence the erection of the stack for the boiler house about the 20th inst.

The machinery will arrive during December and January, all contracts having been awarded except that for equipping the electric department. The Hamilton-Corliss Engine company, of Hamilton, Ohio, will furnish a large Corliss engine for the sewer pipe department.

Mr. Morrow is planning to build large concrete soaks or pits for the stoneware department. In the old works the wooden pits were a great annoyance from leaking. It is expected that small cars will be used to convey stoneware clay from the pug mills to the benches instead of the old wheelbarrow method. An elevator will be installed for this purpose exclusively.

By next spring the company will commence the construction of a railway to the vast clay and coal fields east of Whitehall and will haul coal to the works by rail. The building committee, Messrs. Morrow, Killen and North, has decided to install the electric apparatus and provide for additional boiler capacity. The contract has been awarded to the Allis Chalmers company of Chicago to furnish a large Corliss engine for the electric department. The electric plant will embrace about a 200 kilowatts generator, which will run four to five motors and provide lights for the factory.

A POLICEMAN'S TESTIMONY.

J. N. Paterson, night policeman of Nashua, Ia., writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least a half dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foey's Honey and Tar and two-thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The Second Days Proceedings an Interesting One.

The usual devotional exercises were conducted in the morning, the early prayer meeting and the later one at 8:30. At 8:45 State Worker H. Moser conducted a council table conference on organized Sunday school work, in which he offered some excellent suggestions brought out by his long experience in the callings of teacher and worker.

The program as prepared could not be carried out, owing to the absence of some who had promised to take part, but others supplied their places. The next speaker was Professor Glossup, who spoke most acceptably on four points or questions in Sunday school work:

Who?
How?
What?
Why?

First, who? Too often superintendents over persuade persons to take classes and so we find frequently persons not fit for the great work and then we wonder that there are so few accessions to the church from the school. The best material for teachers is needed and the instructors should always be consecrated and thinking of one great aim. It is hard to get such teachers, but the effort should always be made. A boy once tried to split a stick of wood, but gave it up and when chided for it said Omnipotence could not accomplish it with the axe he was using. So, too, we cannot look for suitable results with imperfect implements. We want teachers fully consecrated and alive to the work.

How? Gain the attention of the pupils. It is easy to lose track of what is said if the attention is not fixed. Make personal application and use narratives as the Master did in His work; not by abstract illustrations. Take the story of the Garden of Eden, the words of Samuel regarding the battle fought by Saul and his forces. It is not enough to dress well and smile sweetly. The good we do and success we attain is equal to the good in us. Ascertain the facts regarding each pupil and enter into their lives. Gain their love and you will accomplish more than by many sermons.

What? Teach history, geography, chronology; have maps, but do not stop there. Teach Christ and make the application. It is easy to learn but hard to apply. A boy asked the meaning of anecdote and was told it was a short tale, so he described a rabbit as an animal with four legs and an anecdote. It is easy to tell a story and tell why. Teach Christ and the beauty of Christianity.

Why? For the salvation of souls. Do not stop there. Feed the lambs. A child when small is called smart, if he knows his letters, but he should know more when older. Too often it is with the Christian as the child who gets no farther than the alphabet. Try to strengthen the character and make the character stalwart.

Field Worker Moser then took up the topic of Sunday school management. It requires:

A good superintendent.
Proper equipment.
An interesting program.
Tact and vigilance of officers.
Faithfulness of teachers.
Good conduct of scholars.

Equipment should consist of blackboard, maps, song books, Bibles for visitors, books for officers.

Have a program not too long, well varied, definite of purpose, intervals for offerings and distribution of papers and books; never let the classes be interrupted during lesson time.

Let the officers be in place ten minutes before opening time. Let each know his duty and attend to it. Let official reports be bulletined.

Teachers should be regular, punctual, preserve order in their classes, be thoroughly prepared; give strict attention to signals.

The scolars should be punctual, use the Bible only, move about reverently, pay good attention, study their lessons at home, be attentive and learn of the Great Master.

At this point the nominating committee reported and their recommendations were adopted.

President—T. R. Hopkins, Jacksonville.

Vice presidents—V. R. Riley, Lynnville; A. C. Rice, Alexander: Mrs. George R. Fox. Chapin; Mrs Nancy Cole, Waverly.

Treasurer—Arthur Swain, Sinclair.

Secretary—Miss Amada Rawlings. Orleans.

Superintendent home department—Miss Georgia Fairbank, Jacksonville.

Superintendent primary department—Miss Hattie Hayden, Jacksonville.

Superintendent normal department—Rev. S. A. Glasgow, Woodson.

President-elect T. R. Hopkins made an earnest address in accepting the office. He called on all workers to stand by him in the work, giving him every assitance possible. Though very busy, he pledged his best efforts to carry on the work and aid in the great enterprise of winning souls to Christ.

AFTERNOON.

Mrs C. E. French read an excellent paper on "Our Boys and Girls; How to Win Them for Christ and His Service." The children of to day will soon be the men and women of the country, so we should early teach them to be Christians. The influence of the mother is all important. Think of the history of Moses, Samuel and other great men who had good mothers. Teachers should seek the conversion of their young scholars, thinking of them in the future as either saved or lost. The superintendent should know his teachers and scholars closely. The secretary should use his office wisely; the pastor should lend his aid as much as possible.

S. W. Nichols spoke on "A Look to Our Needs."

In Sunday school equipment.
In helps for teacher training.
In lesson preparation.

State Worker Moser then conducted a round table conference on Sunday school teaching, in which he answered a number of interesting and pertinent questions. To get the attention of a class, assign the scholars topics to look up; use a manual of questions and have reviews; get into the homes of the scholars. There is nothing equal to the personality of the teacher. Do not have over six or eight scholars in a class. Gather the class about the teacher. To keep order, be kind and firm, but do not scold. Let the superintendent always insist on good order. Do not begin without it. Visit and write letters to absent ones. Tell stories when needed and give the scholars something to do. Come down to what the scholars do. Give them something unexpected, study them, come to their level and lead them yourself to Christ.

It was decided to have the next convention near Aug. 20.

The executive committee was made the president, vice presidents; two executive officers, the secretary and treasurer.

On motion of T. H. Curtis, a cordial vote of thanks was tendered the good people of Franklin for their generous hospitality.

The executive committee was instructed to look up the matter of a constitution and embody these in the resolutions.

C. L. Dark, of Chapin, spoke on "Our Special Days; Rally, Decision and Others." The teacher should be taught of God; Christ should be the great inspiration of all; have definite purpose; do not travel in circles; take on ourselves the yoke of Christ. Rally day can be made helpful in any Sunday school. Have definite aims, do not fail and the same may be said of decision day. It is not wise to try to make scholars Christians in a day, but to start them right.

Miss Flora Hall, of Alexander, read a well prepared paper on "Our Little Flock; What and How to Feed Them?" We should take the best care of the lambs of the flock. There is a time when every boy and girl may be turned to Christ. So teach each child carefully; give all something to do; use blocks—make an ark, cut out animals, a temple, a stable and manger; write texts on card board; tell the story of the Christ child, David, Daniel and always remember that a child learns far more through the eyes than in any other way.

Mr. Moser offered an earnest closing prayer, and by request T. H. Curtis sang a solo and with a song by the audience the convention adjourned.

NOTES.

The executive committee was empowered to fill all vacancies in the list of officers.

The reports showed: Schools after September, 62.

Received for state and county work, $1,064.50.
For missions, $161.08.

Mr. Moser is one of the best state workers ever sent out. He is capable, earnest, doesn't try to put on style and is imbued with the importance of the mission.

Mr. Curtis' singing and Mrs. Ranson's playing were excellent and gave great satisfaction.

The writer enjoyed the kind hospitality of Rev. Mr. Browning, pastor of the M. E. church, at dinner and supped with his long time friend, Mrs. Milford Rees.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Furnishings and Care of the Right Kind of Bedrooms.

Bedrooms ought to be bedrooms and nothing else, says Caroline Hunt in the House Beautiful. She advocates sleeping in garret rooms if there is no other place in the house where one can fit up a bedroom and a dressing room separately. The floor of the bedroom should be of hard wood or at least painted, so that it can be wiped up with a damp cloth and so that there need be no dust to get into the bedding when it is aired every day in the sun, as it should be. Beds which are light enough to be moved easily and cleaned easily are naturally the best beds, for they may be moved from one position into another and always be where they get the most sun in the daytime and the best air at night. If the headboard is no higher than the footboard, as in the iron single beds, the position of the bed in the room is very much easier to determine, since it may even be pushed against the wall sideways without appearing awkward.

Washstands and dressing tables should not be solid to within a few inches of the floor, but open so that the floor may be easily cleaned. And bedrooms should never be used for dressing rooms at an afternoon or evening gathering. To throw outside wraps upon the bed is to make a nest for the microbes of the street which are ever ready to devour.

For Mending Purposes.

An excellent cement for mending almost anything may be made by mixing together litharge and glycerin to the consistency of thick cream or fresh putty. The cement is useful in mending stone jars or any coarse earthenware, stopping leaks in seams of tinpans or wash boilers, cracks and holes in iron kettles, etc. It may also be used to fasten on lamp tops or tighten loose nuts, to secure loose bolts whose nuts are lost, to tighten loose joints of wood or iron or in many other ways about the various kitchen utensils, the range, the sink and in the pantry fittings. In all cases the article mended should not be used till the cement has hardened, which will require from one day to a week, according to the quantity of cement used. The cement will resist the action of water, hot or cold, acids and almost any degree of heat.

Uses For Salt.

Salt on the fingers when cleaning fowls, meat or fish will prevent slipping.

Salt thrown on a coal fire when broiling steak will prevent blazing from the dripping fat.

Salt in water is the best thing to clean willow ware and matting.

Salt put on ink when freshly spilled on a carpet will help in removing the spot.

Salt in the oven under baking tins will prevent their scorching on the bottom.

Salt and vinegar will remove stains from discolored teacups.

Salt thrown on soot which has fallen on the carpet will prevent stain.

Salt used in sweeping carpets will keep out moths.—Cooking Club.

Larger Rooms.

New houses show a tendency toward larger rooms and fewer of them. The bathroom, which in many of the older houses is a small room with just enough space to turn round in, is now built larger, since it is to be used by all the members of the family, who often keep in it their toilet articles. Downstairs architects plan to have at least one large living room. The large central hall, which can be used as a reception and sitting room, is growing in favor. Large chimneypieces, which are not only decorative, but useful, are a favorite feature of these hospitable and cordial looking halls.

Good Rusk.

To make good rusk add to two cups of raised dough a cup of sugar, two ounces of butter, two well beaten eggs and knead into a rather stiff dough. Cover and set to rise and when light mold into small biscuit, place closely together in a buttered biscuit pan, cover and set to rise again, and when light brush the top lightly with a little white of egg, sift sugar and a little cinnamon or chopped almonds over them and bake in a bread oven for from thirty to forty-five minutes.

To Make a Paste.

Mix glycerin and dry litharge to form a tough paste and apply immediately. Let dry thoroughly, and it will resist the action of both water and heat.

Borax In Wash Water.

The addition of a little borax to the water in which clothes are washed (in the place of a washing fluid) will make them white.

WATTERSON ON SOCIETY

His Idea of What It Is and What It Should Be.

THE "SWAGGER SET" DENOUNCED.

Louisville Editor Calls Newport the Apotheosis of Boredom and Asks, "Must the Monkey and the Swell Be Accepted as Interchangeable Types of Human Breeding and Beauty?"

Colonel Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who delivered his lecture on "Society" the other evening in Carnegie Music hall, Allegheny, Pa., before an enthusiastic audience, said in part:

"If any one has come here this evening under the impression that he or she would be regaled by any pretended revelations, by any startling dissertations and exhilarating diatribes touching that curious exhalation of polite society known as the smart set—sometimes calling itself the swagger set—I am afraid I shall disappoint his or her expectation. Anyhow, and in the beginning, I must forestall that misimpression. I have no story to tell, no mystery to reveal. Assuredly I am not a crusader either as to manners or morals.

"Something over a year ago a most lamentable tragedy, taking for its mise en scene the very vestibule if the temple of fashion—the sanctum sanctorum of the Four Hundred—led me in the line of my duty as a writer for the press to say some exceeding plain and, it may have been thought, some very harsh things about the nouveaux riches—the idle rich, the God forgetting, world defying, pleasure seeking rich, who set themselves as a law unto themselves, who submit to no restraints except those fixed by nature and the surgeon's knife, who have no intellectual perspective except that the longest purse brings down the biggest titles, nor rule of conduct except that impelling them to eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow it may be some one else's turn; a code which I am told became altogether the rage in Babylon some centuries ago.

"They society? Has Caliban grace? Is Tom Thumb manhood? Must the monkey and the swell be accepted as interchangeable types, as alternating measurements of human breeding and beauty?

"Indeed one would think so, reading some of the reports that come to us from the inner circles of that apotheosis of boredom, that incarnation of stupidity and affectation which takes its cue from Leicester square and the Corinthian club of London, which emulates the demimondaine of Paris, which eddies round the abodes of luxury and alimony at Newport and thinks no more of running down an ordinary pedestrian in its automobile than you and I would think of brushing away a spider or a fly.

"Sursum corda (lift up your hearts)! I at least have never wasted many thoughts or nursed any serious fears about such cattle, nor shall I do so until monkey dinners become as popular in Pennsylvania as they seem to be in Rhode Island.

"I know that in each of our centers of population and wealth there is a little coterie of silly women and simpering Johnnies which would imitate the imitators, but they are too shallow and too scattered to make much headway against society, and by society I mean not merely those who by their character, their genius and their good fortune have earned the right to dwell in great houses without the suspicion of the ostentatious display of wealth, to have picture galleries and libraries and horses and carriages and, if they please, yachts and automobiles, but behind them that great army of the well bred and well to do—that noble American commonalty, clean of birth and clear of grit—those cultivated men and women who live without scandal and travel without adventure—not rich indeed, but quite able to pay as they go—the rose and expectancy of true manhood and womanhood, the very buttress and bell tower of our free republic.

"These constitute what I call society. Radiating from the home, thrice blessed in 'dad' and 'mam' and 'granny,' yea in 'Bill and Joe, Sis and Co.,' its influence penetrates the dark and the light, reaching from the fireside to the counting room, from the counting room to the asylum and the hospital and somehow finding its way back again to the roof tree and the hearthstone via the schoolhouse and the house of God; never a thought of the divorce court—not so much as the shadow of a 'noble lord'—to disturb its serenity or to frighten its dreams.

"May that society be forever true in its politics to the lesson of the greatest good to the greatest number, in its religion to Christ and him crucified."

Society's New Craze.

The word "fashion" might be defined as the latest notion for pandering to the craze for excitement in the society set. In this sense ballooning is coming into fashion, says London Truth. It is being launched with all the prestige which money and rank can give. Santos-Dumont, who has at least the credit of having risked his life a dozen times, has shown that, for a person ready to throw away $10,000 or $20,000 a year, some very pleasant jaunts can be indulged in in midair. With a compact little air ship, not much bulkier than a motor car and not much more expensive, you can sail forth from your own piazza, pay a visit to a friend ten miles distant, and, provided the weather is calm, you can land again in your own house, having breathed some delightful whiffs of fresh, invigorating air.

INVALIDS IN AMERICA.

Woman Physician Says the Country Is Full of Them.

At the afternoon session of the seventh annual convention of the New York State Assembly of Mothers, which was recently opened in Syracuse, in the midst of a raging storm, 500 mothers were in their places to hear Mrs. Mara L. Pratt Chadwick, M. D., of New York, author of histories and stories for children, tell them plain truths concerning motherhood, says the New York World.

Mrs. Chadwick figuratively placed a child on the dissecting table. There were the tooth cutting period, the growing tall period, the growing stout period, the memory period and the periods of imitation, imagination and reason. Bringing him up through childhood to adolescence, Dr. Chadwick said, was a great task, "but," she went on, "the adolescent period is the time upon which all the future depends. America is a country full of invalids. The real splendid healthy woman is almost extinct."

In her annual address Mrs. David O. Mears, president of the New York State Assembly of Mothers, said that the chief extension of the work had been the introduction of a child study department in the 400 granges in the state, thereby reaching the mothers of the country districts. The assembly now aims, she said, to get into closer relations with the public schools and is working to that end.

HIS IDEA OF CHILDREN.

Chicago University Professor Believes In Quality, Not In Quantity.

Three notable addresses were delivered before the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs at Cairo, Ill., the other day. Wilbur S. Jackman, dean of the school of education of Chicago university, discussed the "Ideal School." He criticised the bare, ugly schoolrooms that stand out in marked contrast to our modern churches, clubrooms, lodge halls and public buildings and the poor ventilation in the schools. Referring to the subject of race suicide, he said:

"The ideal school will be somewhat expensive, but you must afford the money or you must not have the children. The highest evolution is in quality, not quantity. I am not particularly disturbed by the hysteria of our strenuous friends regarding race suicide. In the course of evolution I believe that the race has passed through and beyond the stage of the rabbit and the rat. I am reminded of the fable of the owl and the eagle. The former upbraided the latter for having but two young ones while she herself had four. 'Yes,' replied the eagle, 'but mine are eagles.' I believe that the race needs eagles."

WAVES GAVE UP DIAMOND.

Property of Atlantic City Physician Recovered at Pennsgrove, N. J.

Dr. John M. Summerill of Pennsgrove, on the New Jersey coast, while walking along the shore the other morning, found a necktie in which was a diamond pin. The tie and pin belonged to Dr. Albert D. Cuskaden of Atlantic City.

On Sunday, Oct. 18, while the wind was blowing very hard, both doors of the pilot house on the launch Widgeon, Dr. Cuskaden's boat, were blown open and the wind carried out the tie, which was hanging in the pilot house. When the boat reached New Castle, Dr. Cuskaden wired back that he had lost the pin and offered a reward.

Since that time the shore had been crowded at low water by people searching for the gem, but it had eluded the eyes of all until Dr. Summerill spied it among a lot of weeds and grass.

Winning of a Marlborough Check.

The persistence of some painters is proved by a story that is going the rounds of the London studios, says the New York Press. A young artist, poor and unknown, boasted in a crowd of his fellows that he would paint the portrait of one of the twelve leading women in London within a year. There were many takers of the bet. The artist took the next train for Blenheim palace, where the young Duchess of Marlborough was staying. Note after note was sent to her, but the artist received no reply. One day he bribed the gardener with a couple of shillings to let him enter by a hedge. When he was in the garden the former Miss Vanderbilt appeared. He jumped from behind a lilac bush, said he was struggling and poor and begged permission to paint her portrait. The duchess laughed and said she could not spare the time for posing. Then she added that if he left some finished work with her agent in London she would leave a check. It is said of the persistent youth that if he did not paint the Marlborough portrait he at least received a Marlborough check.

Told to Face the Farce Solemnly.

Representative Henry S. Boutell of Illinois, one of the bright men who represents a Chicago district, was recently in Washington and was asked if he intended to remain until congress met.

"No," he replied; "I have a number of things to look after at home; besides, I have to deliver several orations. I believe that is what they are called. Regarding one of these occasions I had a letter from a friend who was one of the managers of the affair which said, 'Harry, this is a farce, but you can't be too solemn about it.'"

NEW WHITE HOUSE LIVERY.

With President's Approval, Secretary Loeb Plans Gorgeous Display.

By order of Secretary Loeb eight messengers at the president's executive offices in Washington appeared the other day in uniforms of dark blue with shining nickel buttons, says the New York World. If the scheme does not stir up so much ridicule that the president is forced to order that the distinctive clothing be discarded, it is Mr. Loeb's intention to put all the employees around the White House and the executive offices in uniform.

The uniforms planned for the ushers at the White House are gorgeous and will remind traveled visitors of the courts of Europe. Even Chief Usher Stone will be attired in brilliant colors. Mr. Roosevelt has given the plan his tacit approval, but if too much of a row is kicked up Mr. Loeb will have to stand all the blame.

John Addison Porter, secretary to President McKinley, was another who tried to make the White House look like a foreign court. He ordered Captain Loeffler, the president's doorkeeper, who is an officer in the army, to appear in his dress uniform. Mr. McKinley spotted Loeffler when he opened the door for the first time and asked why he was in uniform. Captain Loeffler referred him to Secretary Porter, who said he thought it would look more dignified to have all of the attendants uniformed. Mr. McKinley was very angry.

"This is a republic," said Mr. McKinley, "not a monarchy. Send Loeffler home to change his clothes."

Until Mr. Loeb's advent no one since then has had the courage to suggest uniforms at the White House.

NEW MOTOR ON CANALS.

Electricity From Overhead Wire Successfully Moves Boats.

A successful test of a mechanism for towing canal boats by electricity was made on the Erie canal between Troy, N. Y., and Schenectady the other day, says the New York Tribune. A device called an electric mule, of eighty horsepower and running on rails on the towpath, was used. It is capable of towing four loaded canal boats at the rate of four miles an hour. The power is obtained by trolley from an overhead wire. The machine can run in either direction. The first boat handled was loaded with sand. Difficulty was experienced in getting a towing line strong enough. Finally a heavy hauser was put on, and the boat was hauled quickly the extent of the tracks. Two loaded boats hauled by three horses were met. They contained 500 tons apiece. The horses were unhitched, and the boats were moved together by the electric mule, working backward.

The mule is about 10 feet long, 2 feet wide and 3 feet high and resembles an inverted rowboat.

The Coldest Known Liquid.

Liquid hydrogen is by far the coldest liquid known at the present time. At ordinary atmospheric pressure it boils at —422 degrees F., and reduction of the pressure by an air pump brings the temperature down to —432 degrees, at which the liquid becomes a solid, resembling frozen foam. According to Professor Dewar, to whom the credit is due of having liquefied hydrogen in 1898, the liquid is a colorless, transparent body and is the lightest liquid known to exist, its density being only one-fourteenth that of water. The lightest liquid previously known was liquid marsh gas, which is six times heavier. The only solid which has so small density as to float upon its surface is a piece of pith wood.—Cassier's Magazine.

Engineering Problems In India.

In constructing the power transmission line from the Cauvery falls to the Kolar gold mines, in Mysore, India, which was recently completed, the American engineers employed to do the work had to deal with some uncommon problems. The line, ninety-two miles long, is carried on lofty poles through the jungle. Here the depredations of white ants and wild elephants had to be prevented. The ants attacked the poles, and the elephants pulled at the wires. Iron sockets seven feet high were found to be effective against the ants, and after careful measurements of the highest reach of the elephants' trunks the wires were strung at a safe elevation.

Yards of Diamonds.

Mrs. Bradley Martin has offended good form on the other side by wearing too many jewels. At her place in the highlands of Scotland she gave a ball recently, and society people of the neighborhood were abundantly in attendance. It is the almost invariable custom to dress plainly at country places of that sort, so most of the women wore simple muslins, but the hostess received in a blaze of brilliants. She wore all her magnificent pieces, and, to quote the British paper, she had "yards of diamond chains." Criticism of the American hostess has been general because of what is called "a very vulgar display."

The Horse Still In Demand.

First the railways, then the bicycle and more recently the automobile were each and every one charged with the duty of introducing the "horseless age." When these onslaughts on the horse began a good draft horse or a first class saddler could be bought for $60 and a good pair of carriage horses for $160 to $180. Now the same horses are worth on the market nearly twice as much. This does not look as if the age will soon become horseless.—Farm and Ranch.

FAITH AND FACT.

Faith is one thing and fact is another, it sometimes takes any amount of faith to produce one fact. Years of earnest work and faith have produced one fact about medicine that is deserving of mention here. If people who are troubled with general weakness through overwork, dissipation or exposure can get a remedy that will make rich red blood from the food they eat, their return to health is assured. Good blood is the life of the body as well as the nerves. Weak, sickly, pale people who suffer with indigestion, dyspepsia, sick head ache, loss of strength and ambition, having dizzy spells and always tired, can be cured sound and well with Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic. Sold by druggists for 75c per box, or three boxes for $2. This tonic acts in a common sense way, curing disease by giving strength to resist it. Lee P. Allcott, druggist.

HOUSES OF CONCRETE.

New Idea In Construction Gives Promise of Success.

Dwelling houses and factory buildings with concrete walls, in which the concrete has been molded in place in large masses, have become comparatively common, but in recent years a species of hollow concrete block construction has been introduced, which in some respects appears to promise even greater advantages. Such hollow concrete block houses are, in a measure, highly developed examples of the remarkably durable adobe houses of Mexico and the southwest of the United States, which, though built simply of large sun dried blocks of clay, appear as though hewn out of one solid mass and have been found to successfully resist both great heat and heavy tropical rains.

Walls built of hollow concrete blocks, with their inclosed air spaces, tend to keep houses warm in winter and cool in summer, and the only problem of satisfactorily building them has been that of cost. This, however, we are told, has now been solved by a machine which turns them out quickly and cheaply and in all desired sizes. The molds are made with removable sides, and after the block of concrete has been formed these sides are swung out of the way and the block can be lifted out and left to thoroughly set. Grooves and tongues can easily be formed in the blocks, enabling them to be rigidly tied together in building up a wall, and openings can also be provided in them to receive the ends of floor, beams, the joints being subsequently filled with cement, if desired, to insure greater security.

Many houses have of late been built with such blocks, and their popularity seems to be on the increase. In appearance such concrete block walls resemble masonry. In fact, the blocks can be fashioned after almost any desired pattern.—Cassier's Magazine.

The Liquor Trade In Cuba.

If the Cuban government was controlled by the white ribbon temperance societies of the north she could not have taken a more decisive step against liquor than she has done. The new tax placed on liquors is so very high that the liquor dealers, distillers and all, state that they will have to go out of business, and in a few days it is promised that those people who want "eye openers" may have to take lemonade or milk instead. There seems to be no doubt that the industry in Cuba is killed. One of the oldest liquor firms in Cuba closed its doors last week, while in these columns this morning one of the largest dealers in Cuba announces that he is clearing out his goods preparatory to retiring from business.—Havana Post.

On a Berlin Street Car.

The other day a woman entered a Berlin street car with a number of gas balloons, which she intended to sell in the Thiergarten. As she stood on the platform a man sprang on with a lighted cigar in his mouth, and at the same moment a puff of wind blew the balloons against the cigar.

They all exploded, and for a few seconds the front of the tramway car was in flames. The owner of the balloons was much burned about the face and hands and the smoker more seriously about the face. The passengers inside the car were panic stricken, and for a few minutes there was a terrible struggle to get out of the vehicle, but no one was seriously injured.

Warned by a Dead Man.

Mr. J. S. Marable, who died a few days ago, related several days before his death a remarkable experience. He was conversing with his physician, Dr. W. H. McKenzie, to whom he stated that he had been warned of his death.

"Some weeks ago," said Mr. Marable, "when I was walking home, I became so weak that I was compelled to sit upon a rock to rest. While resting, Tom Sparnell (Mr. Sparnell has been dead for several months) came to me and said, 'Well, old fellow, your time is about up, and you had better get ready to die.' I knew Tom Sparnell was dead, but I could see and hear him distinctly."—Salisbury (N. C.) Sun.

MATHENY & LLOYD.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Wheat—Comparatively firm cables brought out fairly good demand for both December and May at the start and December opened ⅛@⅜c higher, at 77¼c to 77½c. Offerings were light early and with fair advance in December at Minneapolis, the market here showed a good gain, price advancing to 77⅝c first hour. Later sentiment changed and selling became general. Weakness of corn, loss of the gain at Minneapolis and lower prices for December at New York brought outh eavy selling orders from Armour and other influential traders and the market became decided weak. Large primary receipts and small clearances helped create a bearish sentiment. Stop loss orders on the decline and considerable shortselling added to the general weakness. The market was poorly supported the latter part of the session and close was about the bottom, December ⅜c lower. On coast thirty boat loads taken. Liverpool ⅛d lower to ⅛d higher.

Corn—To day's market was an irregular one. Considerable strength was shown early on reported buying through brokers by people considered influential in trade. Prices were forced above close of yesterday and on the bolge offerings seemed to come from every quarter. Not only was long corn on sale, but heavier shorts continued to sell freely. December was pressing on the market through commission houses, on line of 600,000 bushels coming out that trade feared for some time. Government report construed rather bearish. Buying was scattered and in many instances was by those having profits. Cash sales fairly liberal—twenty-one boat loads on coast, 400,000 bushels here. The close showed loss ¾@⅞c under free selling. Liverpool ¼d lower to ⅛d higher.

Oats—Market irregular and uneasy, showing more weakness than strength, especially after the first hour, when influence was felt from surrounding pits. Opening was steady, unchanged and there was an upward tendency early, advances of ¼@½c being established on free buying by cash houses and shorts. But firm tone failed to hold and futures became quotably weak, closing at losses of ½@⅝c for December, ⅝c for May.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

New York, Nov. 11.—To day's market was literally swamped under a torrent of Pennsylvania stock, the total sales of which numbered half as much as the aggregate sahres of all other stocks sold during the day. During the early part of the day a contrary movement in United States Steel preferred served as an offset and held the downward course in Pennsylvania, but the persistence of the latter movement ultimately undermined the market and determined its general tendency. As a result, net loss of 1 to 1½ are indicated for many prominent active stocks. United States Steel's preferred is not included, that stock again having closed unchanged from last night and night before. It ranged as high as 1⅝ over last night's level and lost its rise in sympathy with weakness of Pennsylvania. The conviction was very general that genuine liquidation of Pennsylvania was on a very large scale. A large volume of new bond issues by subsidiary companies, coupled with recent expansion in the company's own capital stock and consequent large increase in requirements upon earnings in order to maintain the present rate of return on bonds and stocks, was an acknowledged factor in the liquidation. Closing quotations:

Money on call strong 3½@5½ per cent; closing bid and offered 4. Time loans firmer; sixty and ninety days 6 per cent; six months 5¾.

Prime paper 6 per cent.

Exchange weak then steady demand, 483.10@483.15; sixty days, 479@479.10.

Bar silver, 56½.

The latest report of Statistician Hyde, of the department of agriculture estimates the average yield of corn per acre for 1903 at 25.8 bu, which compares with 26.8 bu in 1902, 16.7 bu in 1901 and a ten-year average of 23.9 bu, and, he says, indicating a total yield of about 2,313,000,000 bu for this year. On Oct. 18 the Post dispatch in speaking of the October crop report of the department, said: "On basis of the government figures the crop in prospect is estimated at from 2,160,000,000 to over 2,300,000,000 bu, and it appears probable that the final report will show a yield quite up to the highest estimate." The general average as to quality this year is 83.1 per cent, compared with 80 last year and 73.7 in 1901. It is estimated that about 5.2 per cent, or 131,000,000 bu of the crop of 1902 was still on hand Nov. 1, 1903, against 1.9 per cent, and 40.5 per cent, or 94,725,000 bu in 1901."

In Liverpool wheat the declines in America Tuesday were only partially reflected, the opening but ⅛d lower. Undertone to market was firm and later the nearby and distant months recovered opening decline on covering by shorts. In corn the American government report induced heavy realizing and the opening showed a loss ⅛d and ¼d followed.

In Chicago Tuesday cash business was no wheat; 200,000 bu corn and 65,000 bu oats. There were no lake charters. The seaboard reported export sales of 18 boat loads wheat, 30 loads corn and 100,000 bu oats. Of the export sales of wheat 10 loads were from Duluth and that point reported another cargo for Chicago shipment and 250,000 bu c. i. f. Buffalo.

A Liverpool private cable says wheat is very firm on account of small stocks of contract grade. olders not disposed to sell. Cron lower, affected by American advices. "Our market will respond quickly to any improvement on your side."

Broomhall cabled: "Our Rosario correspondent cables: Every prospect of a record wheat yield of excellent quality will be general by Dec. 1, and threshing by Jan. 1."

Des Moines wires: I find all the best cattle feeders are buying May corn as an insurance of their corn for the winter feeding. They have to pay 35c to 40c around here now, and are not getting loaded with offerings from farmers.

The Michigan November crop report makes winter wheat condition 84, against 83 last year. The acreage is small.

READ THIS.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 24, 1901.—For twelve years I have suffered from sweet diabetes, and have spent hundreds of dollars with various doctors, with but little benefit. I was recommended to try a bottle of Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, and will cheerfully testify to the public that it did me more good than all things else put together, and am altogether another man. I have persuaded many of my friends to try it.

THE MATRIMONIAL RECORD.

GARM-DRENNAN.

Dr. Roy H. Garm, of Beardstown, and Miss Liela Moore Drennan, of Taylorville, were united in marriage at the home of the bride Wednesday at high noon.

The maid of honor was Miss Glenna Garm, cousin of the groom, and the best man was Clifford Garm, the groom's brother. There were also several other attendants in the wedding party.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Pierce Drennan and is a young lady of refinement and culture.

The groom is the son of Robert Henry Garm, of Beardstown, cashier of the First National bank of that city, and the wedding yesterday united two prominent Illinois families in the closest of relations.

Dr. Garm is a graduate of the University of Illinois and also of the medical department of the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Garm left immediately after the ceremony for New York and will sail Saturday for Europe, where they expect to remain until July.

Dr. Garm is a nephew of Mrs. F. P. Norbury, of this city, and Dr. and Mrs. Norbury were present at the wedding.

STOLDT-ELLIS.

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Ellis on South West street occurred the marriage of their daughter, Sadie T., to George Stoldt, of Nashville, Tenn. It was a very pretty home wedding, the decorations being in green and white and consisting of white chrysanthemums, evergreens and palms.

The ring ceremony was used and Rev. T. H. Marsh, pastor of the First Baptist church, in a most impressive manner said the words which made them husband and wife. The attendants were E. I. Whitlock, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Laura Stoldt, a sister of the groom.

To the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, rendered by Miss Carrie Spires, the bridal party entered the parlor and took their positions under a beautiful arch made of evergreens, where, beneath a bell of white chryanthemums, the ceremony was performed and just as the last words were being spoken, the bell was so arranged that by pulling a string a quantity of rice was dislodged and showered upon the bride and groom. During the ceremony Miss Spires played softly, "Love's Old, Sweet Song."

At the conclusion of the ceremony most hearty congratulations were extended, after which pleasing refreshments were served in the dining room.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Ellis and having always lived in this county and for several years in this city, she leaves a large circle of acquaintances who regret to see her depart for her distant home. By her kindly and considerate manner she won the confidence and respect of all. The groom is known to a number in this city, having been employed here about four years ago, when he held a position with the Fitzsimmons-Kreider Milling company. He is an electrical engineer and at the present time holds a responsible position with a large electrical house in Nashville. He is a young man of excellent character and standing among his friends, and thorough and industrious in his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoldt left on the afternoon train for Mount Olive, where they will visit at the home of the groom's parents for a week and later will return to Nashville, which will be their home.

CLARK-RUDISILL.

Mr. Charles E. Clark and Miss Bertha W. Rudisill, both of Arcadia, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Joseph Winterbottom at his residence on West State street. The attendants were Miss Lottie E. Henderson and Carl S. Rudisill, a brother of the bride.

Both young people are from well known and highly respected families and are most favorably regarded by a wide circle of friends, who will unite in extending most hearty congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will reside on a farm near Arcadia.

A derailed car on an east bound Wabash freight train delayed traffic for nearly two hours on that road Wednesday.

"IDEAL" COAL

The excellence of this fuel is proved by the large number of coal users who would rather have "Ideal" than any other.

Best way to understand this is to send us an order—for a bushel at 12 cents, or a ton at $3.00. "The proof of the pudding" is—the way the pudding's cooked. "Ideal" coal proves the pudding—every time. Makes cook cheerful. Costs but little.

AT THE MAPLES

Arilliant Reception Given at the Masters' Home.

The home of Mrs. S. D. Masters was the scene of a brilliant reception Wednesday afternoon, at which the hostesses were Mrs. S. D. Masters, Mrs. L. L. Masters and Mrs. A. M. Masters.

The guest list was large and the guests were received in a manner most cordial and hospitable.

The decorations were elaborate and were arranged with artistic taste. In the hall stately palms formed a very pretty bower and the sweet odor of violets greeted the guests as they entered. In the east parlor yellow chyrsanthemums were used and in the west parlor pink chrysanthemums lent their charm.

The dining room was laden with the perfume of American Beauty roses, which were used in profusion, while smilax, barberries and asparagus fern was gracefully entwined about the room. In the library and other rooms chrysanthemums lent their beauty to a floral scene that was rich and elegant.

The reception was one of the most delightful of the fall social events and the afternoon was indeed one of pleasure.

The hostesses were assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Martin Vogel, Mrs. J. H. Hackett, Mrs. Nannie Mathews, Miss Eliza Hughes, Miss Mary Hughes, Mrs. Neil S. Governor Yates Commutes Sentences for Two—Work of Pardon Board.

Springfield, Nov. 11.—Governor Yates Wednesday commuted the sentence of John Thomas Council, of Carterville, who was serving an eighteen-year sentence in the Chester penitentiary. Council had quarreled with a man named Morgan in Williamson county and the two men met in a saloon one day and the result was a row, in which Morgan was killed. Council spent all his money, sold his farm and did everything possible to escape a penitentiary sentence, but he was finally sentenced to thirty-five years imprisonment, which was afterwards commuted to eighteen years.

Many prominent men in Williamson county interested themselves in the case and Council had the sympathy of a large portion of the community.

He has been in Chester nine years and has been a trusty. He will return to Carterville, where friends have offered to help him regain his place in society again.

The sentence of Calvin Buchanan was commuted by the governor, to expire on the 24th of December. Buchanan was convicted in the circuit court of Saline county of the killing of one Morse. Secretary of State Rose, with a large number of residents of the county, recommended clemency.

The sentence of Thomas Scantlin was commuted to fourteen years. Scantlin was convicted of the murder of a man named Rakestraw at East Alton, Menard county and sentenced to fifty years at the July term 1899 of the Menard circuit court. The homicide took place at a dance when there was a general disturbance. Scantlin did not fire the shot, but gave the revolver to the man who did.

The sentence of Grant Simms was commuted from life to fourteen years. The petitioner is a colored man and was sentenced from LaSalle county at the March term, 1896.

Governor Yates, upon the recommendation of the board of pardons, denied pardon or commutation, in the following applications:
